Social Responsibility and Sustainability

At Grassland Dairy Products, Inc, we believe that a strong community creates a positive, productive environment in which to live, work and raise a family. A few of the ways that we promote public interest are through the Wuethrich Foundation and Greenwood Dairy Days. The Wuethrich Foundation was founded in 1955 to support our community through local grants for important projects and provide special scholarships. Greenwood Dairy Days is an annual event that brings together the community and Grassland's more than 300 employees to celebrate dairying, the area's most vital economic resource, through games, prizes, music, food and a parade. Also, in June 2010, Grassland broke ground on an expansion project which will further strengthen the community and encourage growth and development through more employment opportunities.

At Grassland, sustainability is achieved through a variety of ways. The waste stream is clarified and treated before final disposition. Water is reclaimed from our condensing process, treated, and reused. We have also implemented a system to reduce and reclaim our chemical usage. Lastly, we recycle plastic packaging and cardboard.
